Course: KIN 213 Drugs & Society
Credit: 3 Semester Hours

DEFINITION OF CREDIT HOUR:

One credit hour is equivalent to fifteen hours of faculty instruction and a minimum of thirty hours of student reading and work on other assignments in addition to class time. Online classes involve equivalent amounts of time for instruction and coursework or otherwise demonstrate student mastery of concepts through assessments, which are appropriately mapped to course learning outcomes.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Explores societal use, misuse, and abuse of drugs; the basic scientific facts of drugs and how they affect the body; the student’s understanding of self and others in relation to decision making, attitudes, behavior, and value clarification.

OBJECTIVES: Upon successful completion of this course, each student will be expected to demonstrate knowledge of:

1. The effects of drugs on society today.
2. The use, misuse, abuse, and dependency in relation to drug use.
3. The skills learned to help make better decisions to enhance their own health and well-being.
4. The common resources used to identify indications, contraindications, precautions, and adverse reactions to prescription and nonprescription medications.
5. The appropriate terminology and pharmaceutical abbreviations used in prescription and dispensation of medications.
6. The description of commonly abused substances (alcohol, tobacco, stimulants, nutritional supplements, steroids, marijuana, and narcotics) and their impact on an individual's health and physical performance.
